

Narayana Murthy: A Visionary Entrepreneur and the Father of Indian IT

N.R. Narayana Murthy Age

Narayana Murthy, is an Indian billionaire businessman, is widely recognized as the co-founder of Infosys, a globally renowned multinational corporation. Born on August 20, 1946, in Mysore, India, Murthy's journey from modest beginnings to becoming an influential figure in the tech industry is nothing short of inspiring. He is 77 years old.

Narayana Murthy Education

Born on August 20, 1946, in Shidlaghatta, Chikkaballapura district in Karnataka, Narayana Murthy embarked on his educational journey after completing his school studies. He pursued his higher education at the National Institute of Engineering, where he earned a bachelor's degree in Electrical Engineering in 1967. Furthering his academic pursuits, he obtained his master's degree from the Indian Institute of Technology Kanpur in 1969.

Full Name: Nagavara Ramarao Narayana Murthy

Profession: Entrepreneur

Date of Birth: 20 August 1946

Age: 77 Years

College/University: University of Mysore, Indian Institute of Technology Kanpur (IIT Kanpur)

Education Qualifications: Bachelor of Electrical Engineering, M.Tech in Electrical Engineering

Awards and Achievements:

- Padma Vibhushan (2008)
- Legion of Honour (2008)
- Padma Shri (2000)
- Honorary Commander of the Order of the British Empire (2007)

Net Worth: $4.6 billion

N.R. Narayana Murthy Career

Since his early years, Narayana Murthy was exceptionally academically gifted. He had a strong fascination for Mathematics and Physics.

Murthy's journey commenced as a Research Associate under a faculty member at IIM Ahmedabad. Following this, he served as chief systems programmer. He contributed to pioneering projects such as India's inaugural time-sharing computer system and developed a BASIC interpreter for Electronics Corporation of India Limited.

Narayana Murthy Wife and Children

His spouse, Sudha Murthy, is an educator, author, and philanthropist, chairperson of the Infosys Foundation. Their children are Rohan Murthy and Akshata Murthy. In 2009, Akshata married Rishi Sunak, who became the Prime Minister of the UK.

INFOSYS

He started Softronics, which failed. Later, he joined Patni Computer Systems in Pune. In 1981, with Rs 10,000 from his wife, Murthy and six others founded Infosys. He was CEO from 1981 to 2002 and continued in leadership until 2011. He returned in 2013 to revive the company.

Murthy has served on boards of HSBC, DBS Bank, Unilever, ICICI, and NDTV.

Awards and Achievements

Murthy is ranked among icons like Steve Jobs and Bill Gates. He received the Padma Shri in 2000 and Padma Vibhushan in 2008.

Net Worth and Rich List

Murthy's net worth is $4.6 billion. Infosys is India's second-largest IT company, with a market cap around $80 billion. Akshata Murthy owns around 39 million Infosys shares. Rishi Sunak became the wealthiest UK Prime Minister, with a family net worth of $800 million.

Forbes India Rich List 2022 values Murthy's wealth at Rs.34,728.52 crore, highlighting his legacy in the tech sector.